ESSENTIAL SKILLS

Organizational Needs Assessment

The Organizational Needs Assessment provides a framework for conducting a basic Essential Skills needs assessment in your organization. Using this tool will help you determine whether Essential Skills gaps are affecting your organization's performance and identify which skills may require upgrading.

Canada

Introduction

Are you experiencing any of the following issues in your workplace:

- ❑ High staff turnover?
- ❑ High absenteeism?
- ❑ Low motivation and/or productivity?
- ❑ Employees who resist change?
- ❑ On-the-job accidents?
- ❑ Difficulty meeting your business goals?

If you answered 'yes' to any of the above questions, you may have an Essential Skills issue within your organization.

Essential Skills are the skills that people need for work, learning and life. They are common across all Canadian occupational groups and provide the foundation for learning other skills. There are nine Essential Skills:

▮ Reading	▮ Writing	▮ Thinking
▮ Document Use	▮ Oral Communication	▮ Computer Use
▮ Numeracy	▮ Working with Others	▮ Continuous Learning

The Organizational Needs Assessment (ONA) contains two sections:

Section 1: Essential Skills Assessment

This section contains a basic needs assessment for your organization. It allows you to determine whether skills gaps are impacting your business performance.

Section 2: Assessment Results Chart

This section contains a chart that can help identify Essential Skills training needs for your organization.

Best Practices

✓ There are nine Essential Skills. You may choose to assess one, several or all of them.

✓ You can use the ONA to examine the Essential Skills of your organization as a whole or to assess specific department(s) (e.g. Accounting) or groups of employees (e.g. all entry-level positions).

✓ Consider asking managers to complete Section 1: Essential Skills Assessment for their team or department. They may have valuable input into the current skills situation in your organization.

✓ Consider asking employees to complete Section 1: Essential Skills Assessment for their area of the organization, and compare your results with theirs. Even if you do not include employees in the assessment process, you may want to share your results with them.

✓ Communicate regularly with employees as your organization moves forward in addressing any Essential Skills gaps. Open lines of communication will improve employee motivation and buy-in.

✓ Look for positive results, such as higher morale, lower absenteeism and increased productivity after Essential Skills upgrading has been implemented.

Assessment Results Chart

This chart allows you to interpret your assessment results. It will help you determine whether there are skills that may require upgrading in your organization.

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Refer to your results under TOTAL STATEMENTS and LEVEL OF IMPACT for the first skill you assessed in Section 1: Essential Skills Assessment.

2. Using your results, locate the corresponding row and column in the chart.

3. Write the name of the skill in the corresponding cell on the chart.

4. Locate the cell colour in the CELL COLOUR GUIDE (below the chart) to interpret your results.

5. Repeat steps 1-4 for each skill you assessed.

ASSESSMENT RESULTS CHART:

	Level of impact
